Dedication

We, the class of '60, dedicate this yearbook to Edwin Daniel Wesner. "Ed," a friend to all who knew him, had an appealing and friendly personality. Edwin, who lived near Fleetwood in a home which he helped to build, was an active member of the F.F.A. and the chorus. Working on hot-rod models, hunting, fishing, and roller skating were his favorite pastimes. Edwin was willing always to lend a helping hand to any of his friends and classmates.

Although he was the victim of a fatal disease, Edwin was always cheerful. Even though he had to make many trips to the hospital for treatment during the last two years of his illness, Edwin continued his high school education. Edwin will continue to be admired for his persistence in fighting sickness and for the happiness he brought to all who knew him.

Presentation

We, in behalf of the yearbook staff, present the '60 Cougar. The Cougar staff was organized in May 1959. During the summer months a "dummy" was laid out. As soon as school began the staff took pictures, wrote stories, and chose the cover for the book. After the new year began, the staff doubled its efforts and formulated every minute detail into the "dummy." Then after the articles were proofread and printed on good paper, they were fitted on the paste-up boards. The book then went to the publishing house for its printing, and finally to the bindery for completion. The work of the staff was not completed until the annuals were distributed to the subscribers.

The purpose of the yearbook is to provide glimpses of our senior year, the summit of our twelve years of study. We will remember best all the fun we had working and playing together. Our adventures began in ninth grade, when we adjusted to high school. As Freshmen we got lost in the halls, feared the senior hall patrols, struggled through our first year of Spanish or Latin, and enjoyed the ninth grade party. The highlight of tenth grade was the trip to the Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia Zoo. At the Institute we were fascinated by the old-time movies, the physics exhibits, the model airplane display, and the driver's test. Eleventh grade was a busy year for all of us. In addition to purchasing class rings and class jackets, cheering our team on to winning the State Championship, and sponsoring the Junior-Senior Farewell, we enjoyed a trip to the Gettysburg Battlefield and the Hershey Chocolate Factory.

Finally we attained our goal—we were seniors. We gained all the honors and duties of K.A.H.S. seniors. We sat for class portraits, ordered calling cards and commencement invitations, made a trip to the court house, and struggled with heat experiments in physics. The cast worked hard staging the senior class play, "The Giddio Will." Highlights of our senior class trip were the stage show at Radio City and the Broadway play "Take Me Along." Because we realized what the name Junior-Senior Farewell signified, the dance was a solemn occasion. The climaxes of the year were Baccalaureate and Graduation Day. We had achieved our goal and were prepared for the road of life.

This has been the purpose of the yearbook, to capture all these beneficial experiences. The staff wishes to express gratitude to all those who have contributed to the publication of the yearbook. Without the co-operation of the administration and faculty this annual would have been impossible.

A Message to The Class of 1960:

Graduation is always a personal, memorable and highly significant event in our lives.

It testifies that you have completed laying your basic educational foundation. Day by day you have been given the fundamental tools of life. Your diploma is tangible evidence that you are prepared to use these tools in building upon this foundation.

Please remember that success in life comes only to those who earn it. To earn success you must set high goals; maintain sound moral and ethical standards; work hard; continue to learn; overcome occasional disappointments; place service above self; contribute to society as an honest and respected citizen.

Remain adamant in maintaining certain fundamental principles as unalterable. Among these I would have you place love of God and the necessity of Divine Guidance; truth; integrity; justice; family and home first; democratic philosophy which holds that the dignity and worth of the individual is paramount and that governmental institutions derive their just powers and authority from the consent of the governed.

My relationships with and feelings for the Class of 1960 have been, understandably, more personal than usual. I have observed your progress and achievements with personal pride and satisfaction. This feeling, I believe, has been mutual and I trust will continue in the years that lie ahead.

My sincere congratulations and personal good wishes go with each of you. May you find success, happiness and satisfaction in life. As you well know, my expectations for each of you are great. Your progress in life will always be my concern. May God grant you his richest blessings.

A Message to the Class of 1960:

For a long time you have looked forward to the completion of your high school education. Your high school years will probably be among the happiest years of your life. They should, also, be among the most valuable years.

Your high school has sought to give you the opportunity of acquiring a well-rounded education for your individual development. This development depended chiefly upon yourself. At best your high school can only afford you opportunity.

Education does not end with the completion of your formal high school education. It is a continual process and is a discipline for the great adventure of life which lies ahead of you.

Many of you will continue your education in higher institutions of learning; others will enter a trade, or find employment in industry and many enter the armed services.

Remember that the proper choice of a suitable field of work is one of the most important decisions that an individual has to make. Naturally, you will want to make a proper choice because you know that future happiness and success may depend on it. The occupational and professional world is very competitive but the individual who knows what he has to offer and where it can be used has a distinct advantage.

An excellent philosophy for life is to keep on striving for improvement—since the largest room in the world is the room for improvement.

May you ever strive to reach your goals and ideals and remember the importance of good character, honesty and integrity, religion, thoughtfulness and consideration for others as you journey through life.

My best wishes for success are extended to you, the Class of 1960.

L. Merlin Stauffer

A Message to the Class of 1960:

Graduation from high school is a memorable event in your young lives and one which you have looked forward to for a number of years. The fact that you have completed high school indicates that you have satisfactorily completed a number of basic requirements necessary for the attainment of this goal.

Receiving a diploma means more, however, than the fulfillment of certain standards. It is an indication that you have now crossed the threshold of adulthood. It means that now you are ready to travel the road of life equipped with certain habits, skills, and knowledge. You are challenged to use that which you have learned toward the betterment of yourself and of your status in life. Of even greater importance is the responsibility you have of improving the way of life of all America. Upon you and thousands like you, rests the future of America and our society.

My sincere best wishes are extended to each of you as you move along the many walks of life.

School Board

The omission of education from the Constitution of the United States has determined that the state is legally responsible for a system of public education. The state has seen fit to delegate a great part of this authority to local school districts. In order for local school districts to exercise this authority the state has set up boards of school directors in each district for the purpose of administering the system of public schools of the district.

Clerical Staff

The Office Staff of the Kutztown Area Schools has a great deal of responsibility and carries it well. The main duties are to keep all student activity Financial Accounts and issue checks, do all school banking, keep inventory of Joint Board equipment and supplies, maintain school attendance records and control the entire school budget.

Front Row: Mr. Warren R. Gerner. Back Row: Mr. Jean B. Kistler, Miss Miriam Schroeder, Miss Lorraine E. Dries.

Commercial Department

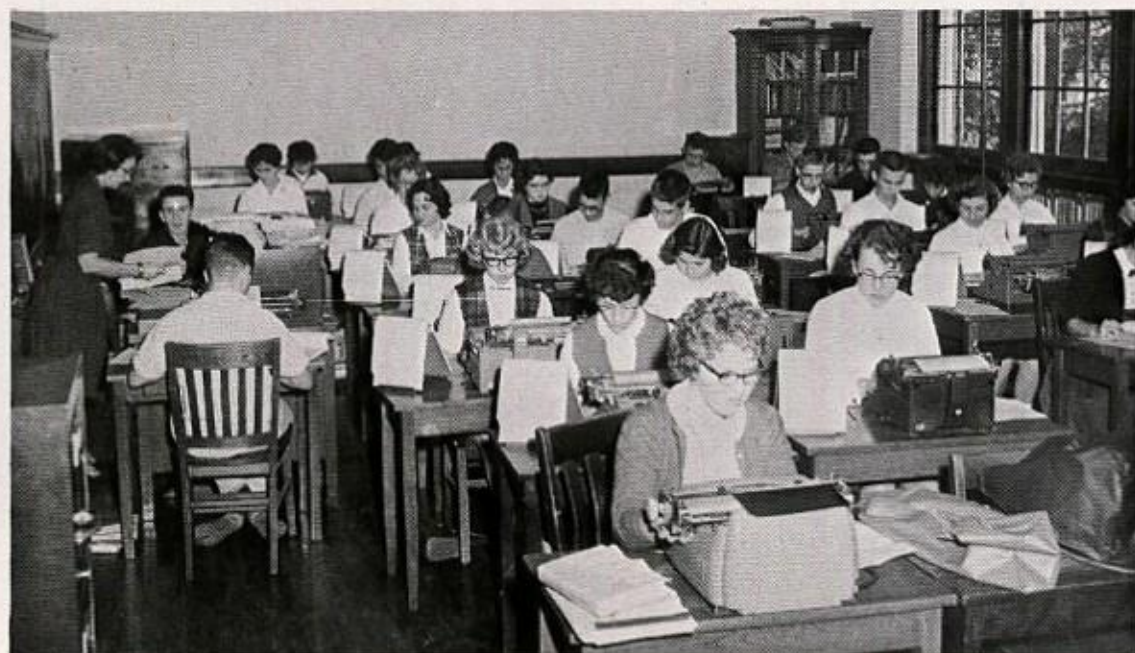

Mrs. Jean A. P. Held, Mr. Howard J. Dietrich.

The Commercial Department, under the direction of Mr. Howard Dietrich and Mrs. Jean Held, prepares students for useful and active lives in the business world. The students in this course study typing, shorthand, business law, consumer economics, business English, and bookkeeping. Because the students wish to acquire skill in office practice, they take a course in filing and learn how to perform other duties such as answering telephones and running the various business machines. The pupils also serve as Student Secretaries for high school faculty members.

"Hands on home row" is the familiar statement heard in Mrs. Held's typing room. A graduate of Temple University, Mrs. Held received her B.S. in Business Education and her M.A. from Lehigh University.

"Get Quiet" is a favorite expression which Mr. Dietrich uses to quiet his classes. As head of the department he teaches mathematics and bookkeeping. Mr. Dietrich received his B.S. from Temple University and he also attended Kutztown State Teachers College.

The students in the typing room realize typing is a skill they can use in any occupation.

English Department

Seated: Mrs. Marie R. Hehr, Miss Marguerite Beidler, Miss Ethel Beidler. Standing: Mr. Harold L. Hehr, Mrs. Viola S. Beekey, Mr. Raymond L. Fisher.

It is of vital importance today to be able to correctly express one's thoughts and correctly interpret those of others. Teaching the student to do this is the main objective of our English Department. By stressing accurate reading and writing, broadening the understanding and enjoyment of literature, and developing a basis for intelligent criticism of writing, the courses provide a good foundation in English.

Each year there is a review of basic grammar and an introduction to new vocabulary. Through themes students are frequently given opportunity to apply their knowledge. In the study of literature, which consumes much of the year, examination is made of the major periods of writing, the work of major writers, and the historical development of the major literary types.

Seniors who have an A or B average in regular English courses and who desire advanced study in rhetoric may elect English composition. Throughout the year the class writes short compositions and stories. Each student must also complete a term paper which requires intensive research. This year the class edited a literary magazine containing poems, stories, compositions, and puzzles contributed by the composition and other English classes.

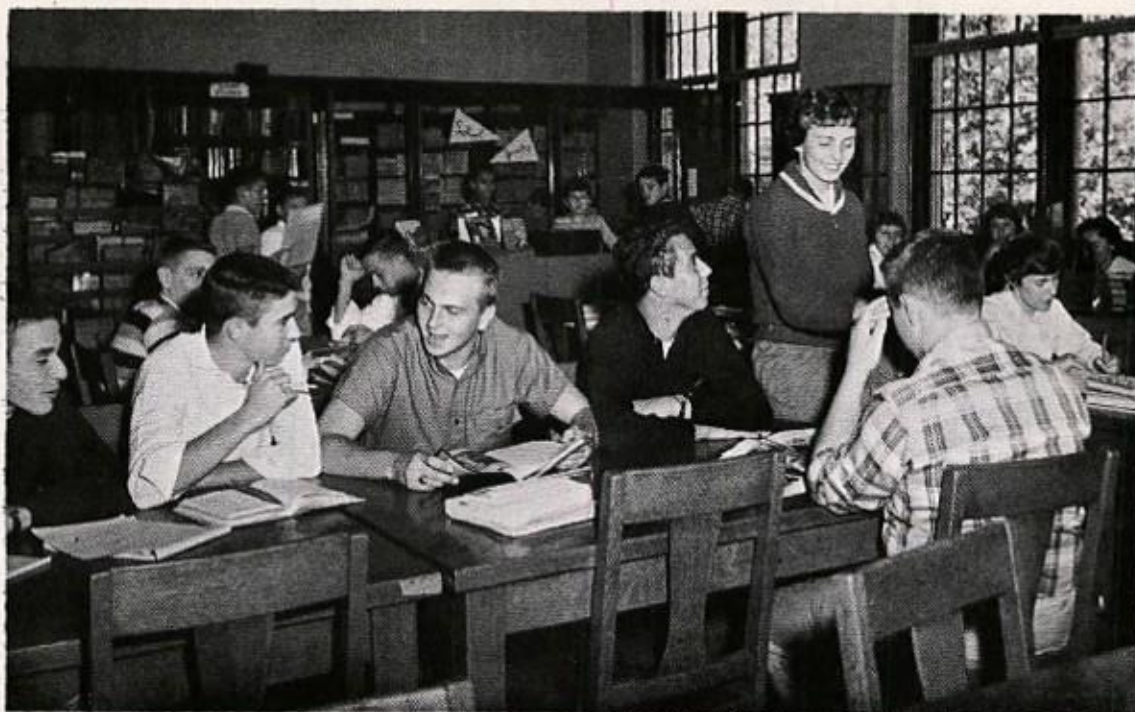

The 12-V section listens to Mr. Hehr as he explains composition.

Library

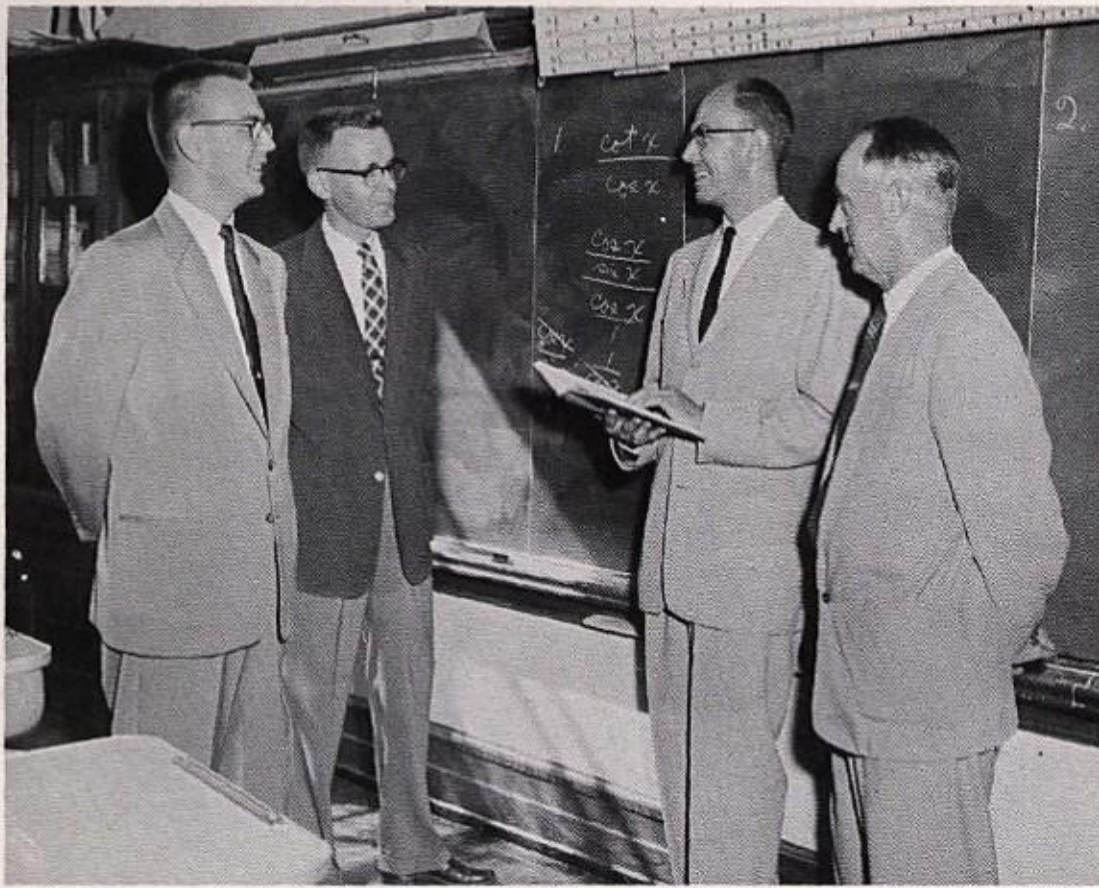

"What would you like to know?" Near the end of the school day the seniors in the library exchange ideas.

Our complete and efficient library, operated by Mrs. Dolan, proves itself invaluable to the school since it fills practically every need for both senior and junior high school pupils. The library contains a complete collection of fiction and non-fiction books, magazines, and newspapers for student research and enjoyment reading. In addition to her duties, Mrs. Dolan gives formal library instruction to all seventh grade sections and to all other grades at the request of the teachers. Mrs. Dolan, whose work demands understanding young readers' interests and keeping available information for teachers, received her B.S. from Kutztown State Teachers College. We are proud of our library, because it plays a vital part in preparing us for our future occupations.

Mathematics

Department

During the space age mathematics will continue to play a prominent part in the future of our country. Kutztown Area High School is meeting the challenge by making mathematics courses compulsory for all high school students. Academic students are required to study algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and solid geometry. General students receive a review of mathematics, algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and practical mathematics. Commercial students take business and consumer mathematics, and bookkeeping, while vocational students study practical mathematics and a review of mathematics

The advanced mathematics course is available to all academic students with an A or a B average in their mathematics courses. These students, using college textbooks, study subjects which the regular classes never study. Each year three students of outstanding ability are sent to participate in the Berks County Mathematics Test. This year's participants were Kathleen Kirk, Cyrus Beekey, and Tony Brintzenhoff.

12-V tackles practical mathematics.

Science

Since science is heavily emphasized in our high schools today, KAHS is fortunate to have a well-qualified staff of science instructors and well-equipped laboratories for microscopic work, dissection, and demonstrations. In addition to regular courses, there are extra activities offered by the department. An evening class in astronomy for advanced general section pupils meets weekly under the direction of Mr. Hunsberger. In addition, field trips supplement the regular classroom work, and science fair participation increases knowledge in specific areas.

Here in these very rooms where we wrote formulas for Mr. Keim, we also have those wonderful laboratory periods with Mr. Angstadt, we were taught to think objectively and to develop accuracy and neatness through proper laboratory techniques. In our biology, chemistry, and physics courses, the object of the science department is to teach a pupil to apply the scientific method in solving the problems of everyday life.

These tenth grade students are studying the mysteries of nature.

Mrs. Ann M. Loose, Mrs. Shirley M. Moyer.

The homemaking courses, available to all girls in grades seven through twelve, are interesting and educational particularly for girls who plan a career in home economics. The various subjects studied are useful in the future. The junior year subjects are making and keeping friends, clothing construction, good grooming, family relations, frugality, food preparation, and home safety. The senior year subjects include a more intensified study of those of the junior year and meal planning and preparation, home planning and furnishing, child care and guidance, family relations, textiles and clothing construction, home nursing, consumer buying, nutrition and other subjects suggested by the girls. The senior year course is available as an elective for girls in the academic, general, and commercial courses. The teachers who make these courses enjoyable are Mrs. Shirley Moyer and Mrs. Ann Loose.

Home Economics

Department

"Busy Day, Busy Day" is the motto of our industrious 12-V girls as they learn the skills of homemaking.

The ninth grade girls learn the fundamentals of sewing.

12V boys work on their project books.

Vocational Agriculture Department

The vocational agriculture course is a four year course especially arranged for boys who plan to make farming a career. The curriculum includes class work, farm mechanics, and supervised farming programs. The class work involves the study of farm management, soil and water conservation, forage and field crops, feeds and feeding, and the husbandry of dairy, poultry, and animals. In farm mechanics classes the boys learn how to repair machinery, weld and use tools and power equipment properly. The core of the supervised farm program is a course in raising crops and animals and in keeping records of profits and losses.

The primary aim of the course is to prepare rural boys for proficiency in farming. The course also prepares boys for rural leadership, citizenship, and country life.

The faculty members, Mr. Kenneth Staver and Mr. Jack Schonely, do an excellent job. Each received his Bachelor of Science degree at Penn State University. Mr. Staver received his Master of Arts degree at Lehigh University. Mr. Schonely also teaches welding to other interested boys.

Mr. Kenneth W. Staver, Mr. Jack W. Schonely.

Earl and Donald complete a gate at the Ag shop.

History

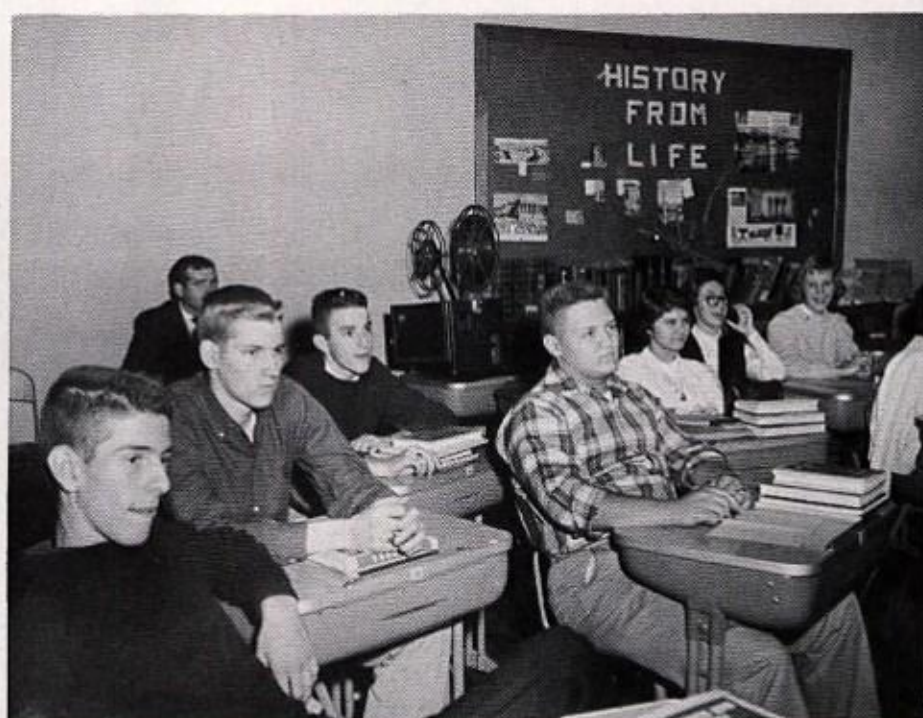

Department

Mr. John S. Davies, Mr. Charles Z. Angstadt, Mrs. Marie R. Hehr, Mr. Paul L. Hunsberger, Mrs. Laila M. Silan.

The Social Studies Department consists of Mr. John Davies, Department Head, Mr. Charles Angstadt, Mrs. Harold Hehr, Mr. Paul Hunsberger, and Mrs. Laila Silan. Sophomores study World History; Juniors, American History; and Seniors, Problems of Democracy. The department members enrich these courses with films, outside reports, current events, and trips to places of historical significance. POD class members learn about security market details by buying and selling stocks on their own stock market. This year the many important events increased students' desire to learn, since they were a part of these local, state, national, and international events. They were able to realize how each event was an advantage in terms of their own lives. The main aim of social studies is briefly summed up in Mr. Davies' words: "Civic responsibility is important to (1) the individual student, (2) his nation, and (3) his fellow man."

Current Events are an important part of history class.

Suzie and Judy find P.O.D. class can be funny?

Language Department

Mr. Nevin J. Luckenbill, Miss Ethel Beidler.

Our capable Language Department consists of Mr. Nevin Luckenbill, the department head, who is a graduate of Albright College and Miss Ethel Beidler, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers College. Mr. Luckenbill taught many of the Seniors Latin II in their Sophomore year; German I, Spanish I, or both in their Junior year; and German II, Spanish II or both languages in their Senior year. Miss Beidler now teaches Latin I and English to ninth and tenth grades. This year students in ninth grade were offered a four year, ninth through twelfth grade, German course. Eventually three years of Spanish will also be offered. Mr. Luckenbill remarked, "In this year's Senior Class there were a few outstanding language students, as there usually are in every class." Miss Beidler and he both hope in future years the students will take full advantage of the language courses.

Mr. Luckenbill's students know that "We learn not for school, but for life."

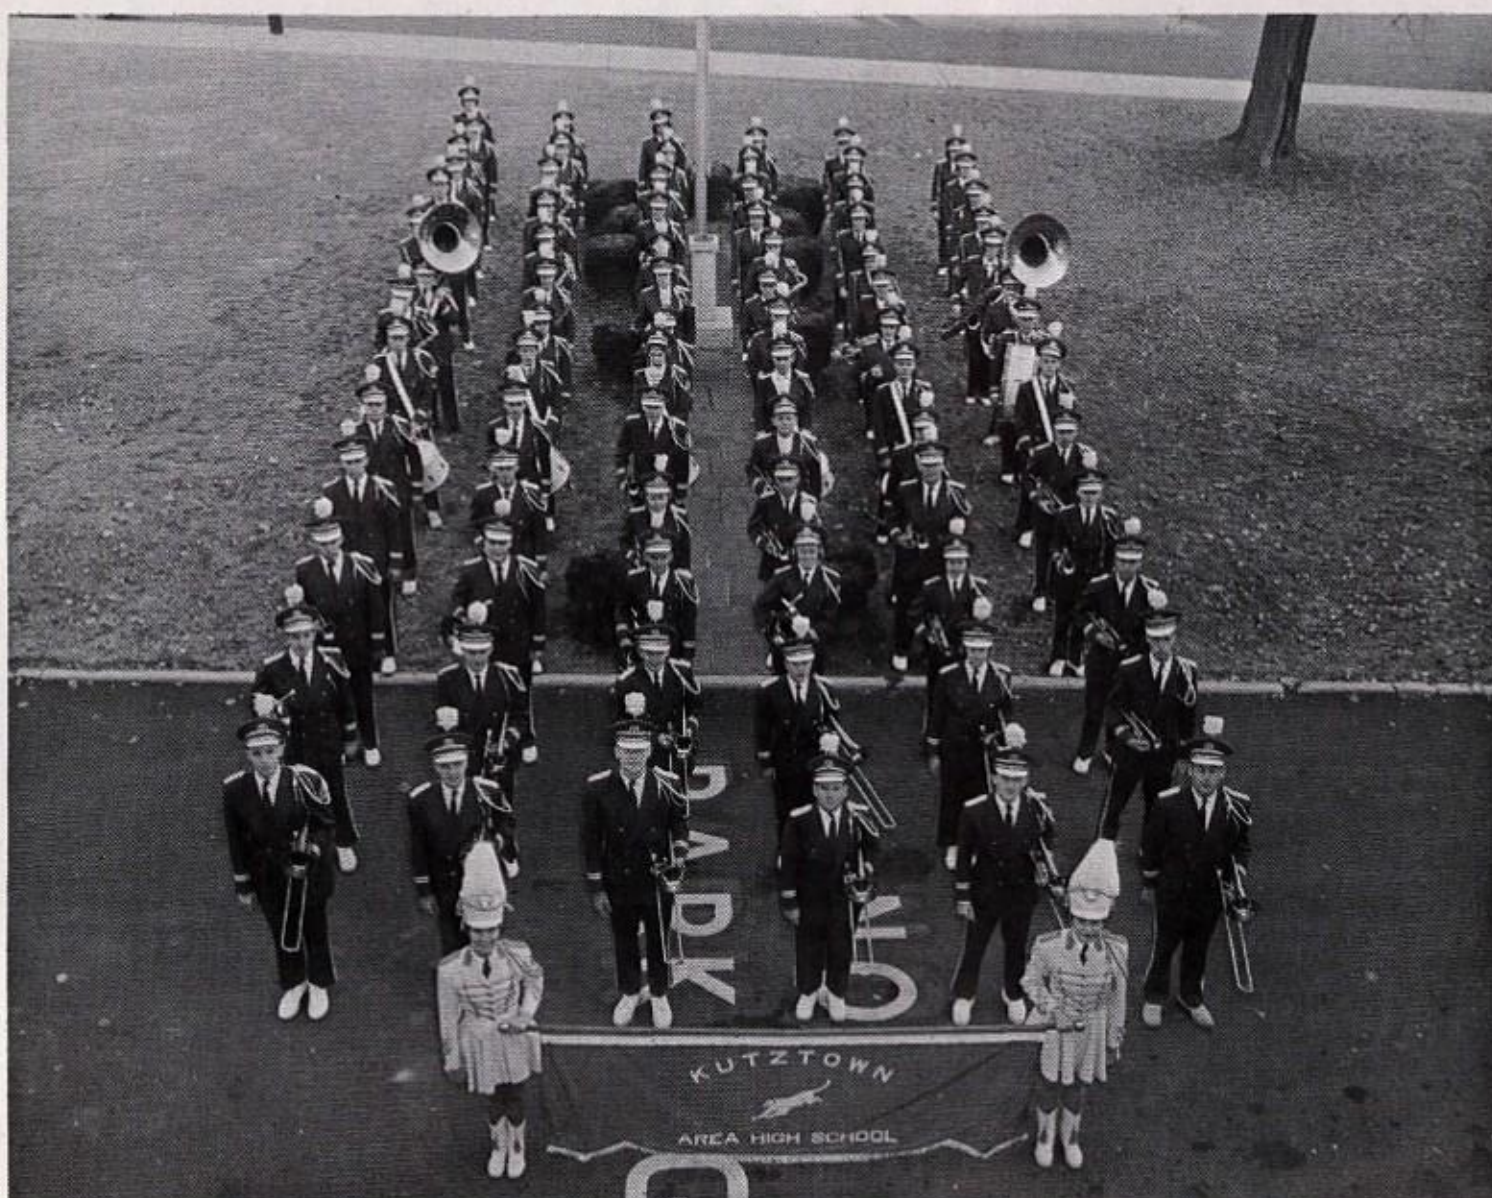

Music Department

With the addition of Mrs. Jack Lovell, Richard G. Wells and William S. Moyer were again able to carry out their much appreciated duties. These three were constantly kept busy by musical instruction for students from grade school to the senior high band and chorus. Both class vocal instruction and semi-private instrumental lessons are given to those pupils below ninth grade, while senior high pupils receive their instruction from private teachers. Mr. Wells leads the chorus; Mr. Moyer conducts both the junior and the senior high band.

Mr. William S. Moyer, Mrs. Mary S. Lovell, Mr. Richard G. Wells.

Mr. Moyer's pride and joy, the K.A.H.S. band, can be proud of the fine entertainment it provides.

Driver Education

Judith Wessner, Mr. Harold L. Fleisher

The purpose of the Driver-Education Course, headed by Mr. Harold Fleisher, is to create careful drivers and develop a more sportsman-like attitude on the highway. Driver Training is offered to tenth and eleventh grade pupils. In addition to learning the skills of driving they are enrolled in classes where they are taught safety on the road, the functions of the automobile, and pedestrian safety.

Mr. Fleisher, who also conducts adult driver-education classes, received his B.S. from Kutztown State Teachers College.

Nurse

Mrs. Mary W. Koch, the school nurse, has charge of the health program at all Kutztown Area Schools. In addition to receiving her B.S. from Kutztown State Teachers College, she graduated from the Allentown School of Nursing. Mrs. Koch is available for emergencies and routine checkups.

Mr. Herman A. Mock, Mr. John F. Dreibelbis.

Fine and Industrial Arts Department

Mr. Herman Mock and Mr. John Dreibelbis are the able directors of the art program at Kutztown Area High School. Because art is an elective subject for high school students, they are free to choose and work on projects which suit their individual tastes. Students may select such projects as leatherwork, oil painting, and jewelry making.

Future handymen may select Industrial Arts as a senior high school course. Boys may choose shop, mechanical drawing, and welding courses.

Mr. Herman Mock, who teaches industrial arts received his B.S. from Penn State University, while Mr. John Dreibelbis, head of the fine arts department, received his B.S. from Kutztown State Teachers College and his M.A. from Columbia University.

Guidance Department

Mrs. Laura L. Lannon, our Guidance Counselor, aids students in the consideration and selection of schools for higher learning and acquaints them with scholarships available. She administers tests to all junior-senior high students for the purpose of further identifying abilities, aptitudes and interests. As head of the Guidance Department, she acquaints students with occupational opportunities, advantages and disadvantages, and arranges job interviews. Mrs. Lannon is always willing to give assistance in school or personal problems.

Mrs. Laura L. Lannon, Sue Fisher.

1-2-3 echoes the gym as the boys do their exercises.

Physical Education Department

To be a well-rounded person a student must be physically sound. The physical training program, under the direction of Mrs. Saul and Mr. Silan, attempts to give every student at least one period of physical training a week. The classes begin with a roll call after which one of the students is chosen to lead the pupils in an exercise. After the calisthenics, the boys use the rest of the period for sport competition in soccer, softball, basketball, touch football, volleyball, or wrestling. The girls participate in soccer, softball, basketball, hockey, and volleyball. Mrs. Saul instructs the girls in social and folk dancing once a month. During Mrs. Saul's illness Mrs. Krouse did a capable job in the girls' athletic department.

In addition to teaching physical education Mrs. Saul and Mr. Silan conduct Junior High School health classes, where they strive to teach students how to care for their health. We are proud of the fine work of this department in furthering students' interests in physical fitness and sports participation.

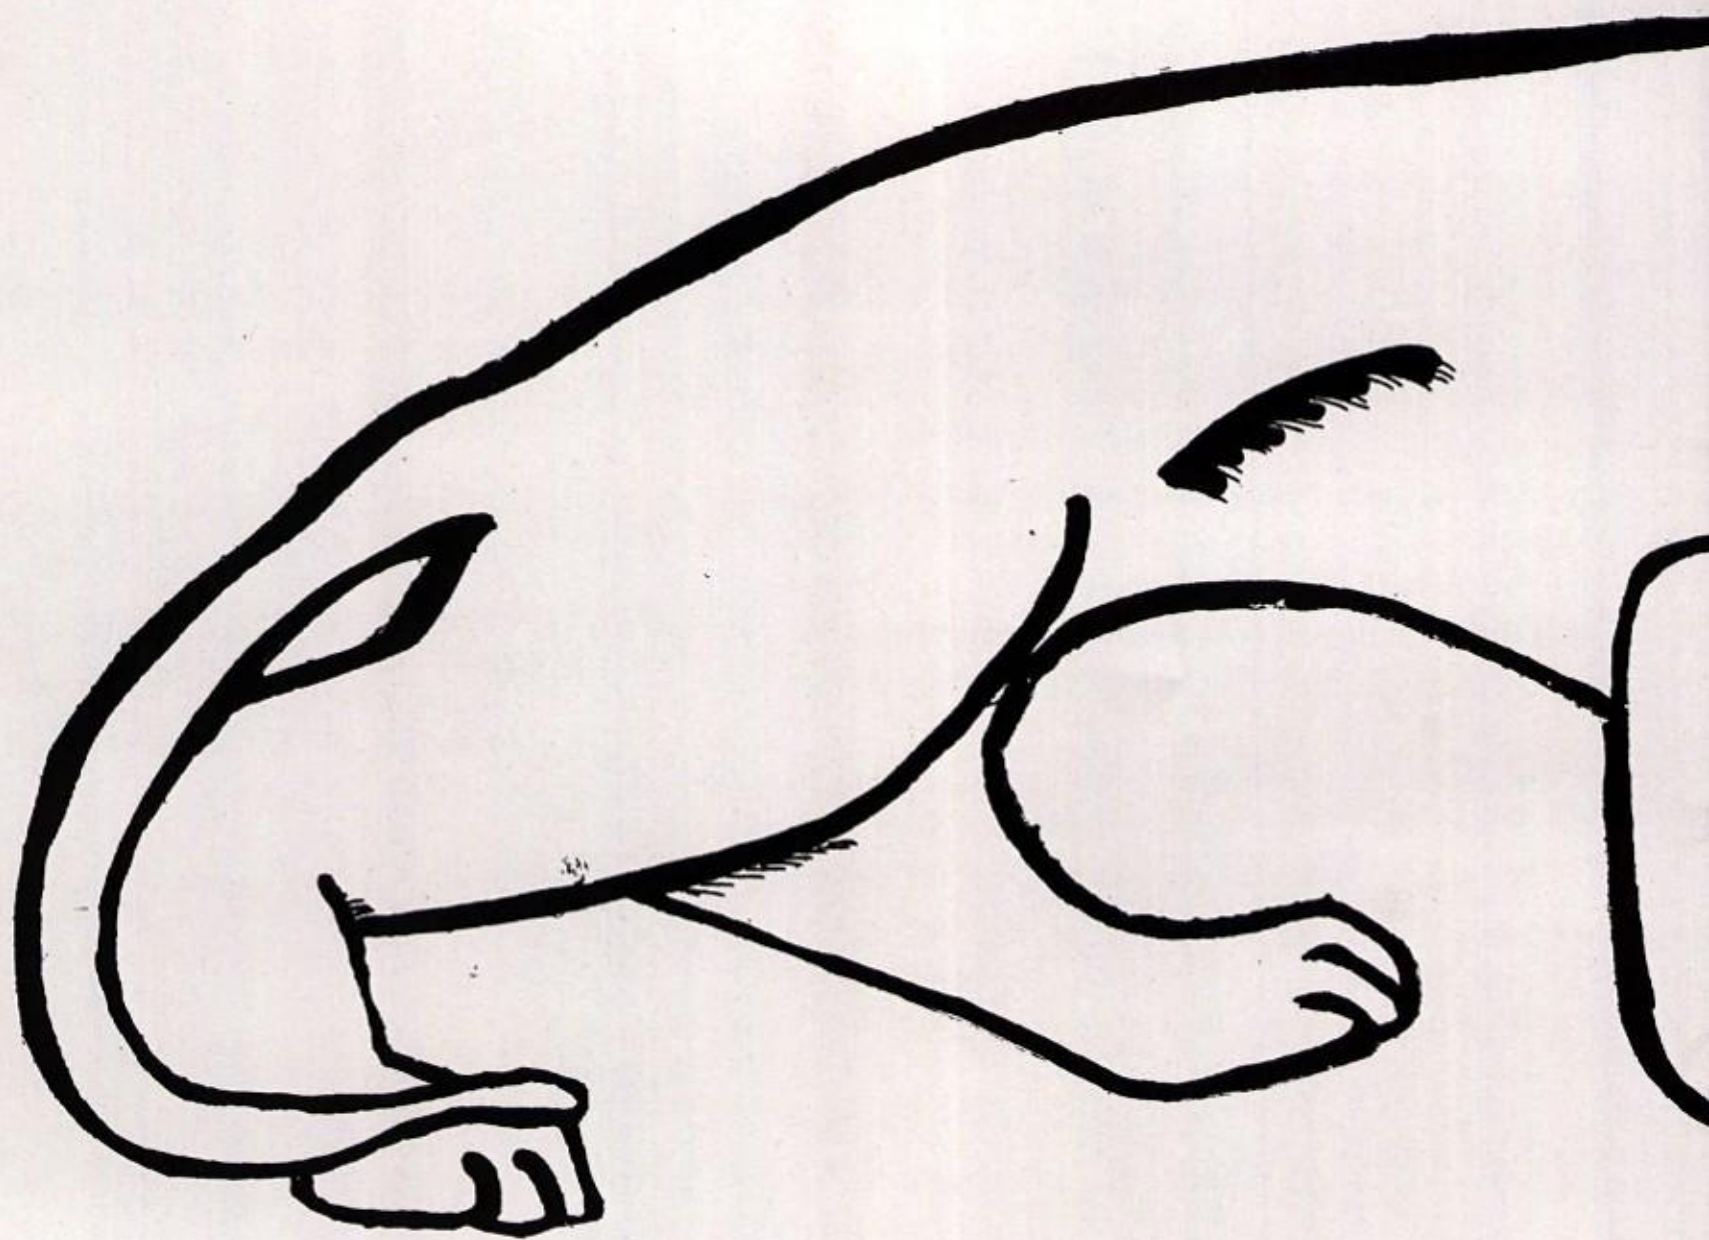

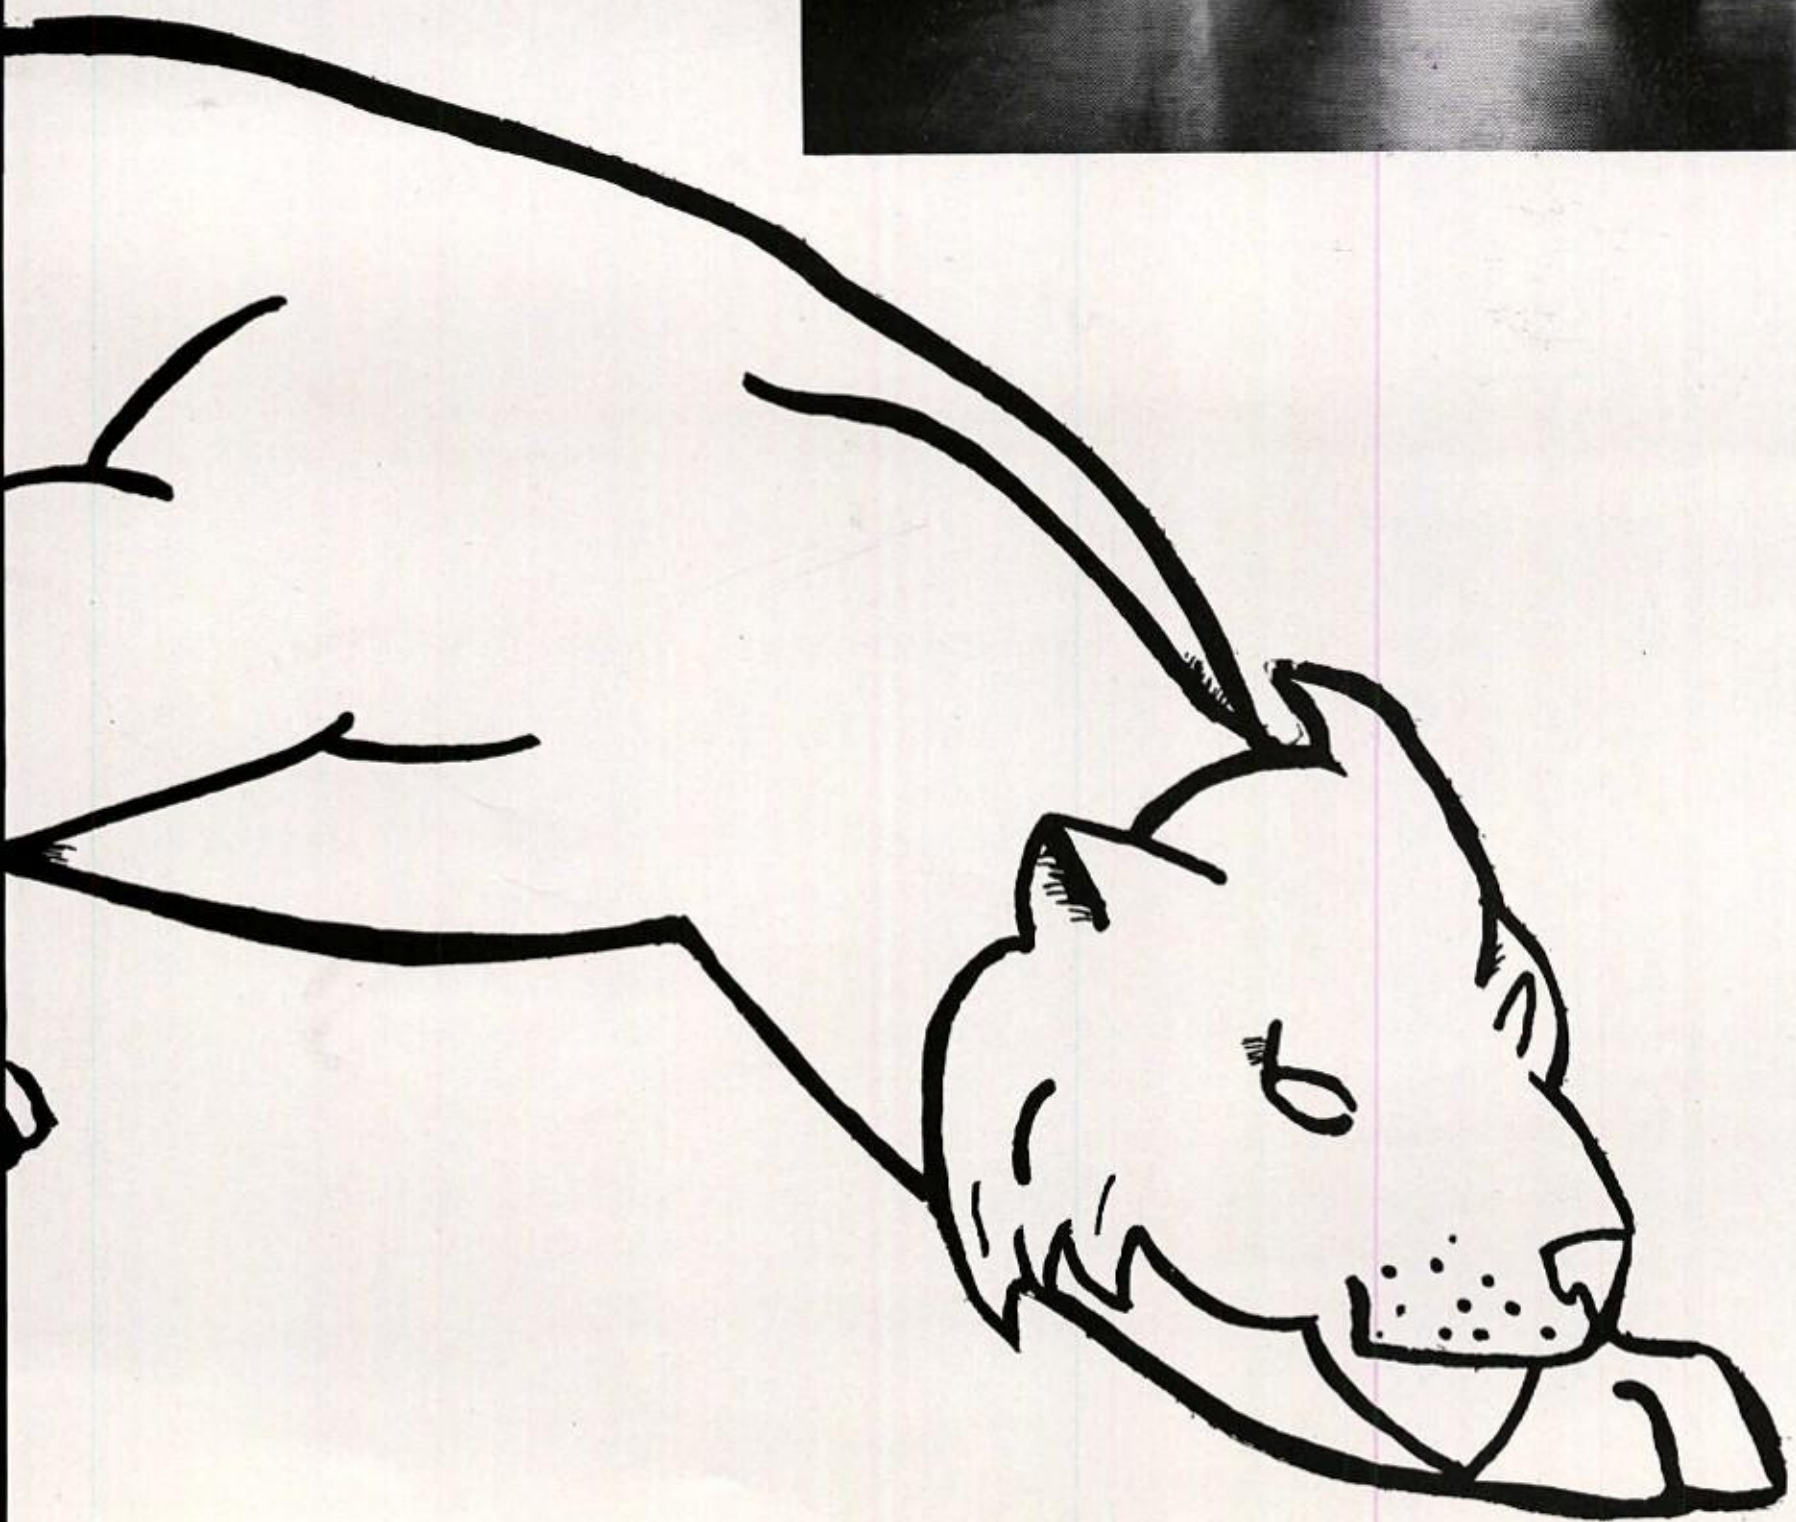

Carol and Nancy learn the skills of modern and folk dancing in gym.

Class Officers

A MESSAGE FROM THE SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT:

During our twelve years here we have lived and grown as students; we have worked toward a high school diploma. The diploma is ours, and in a certain sense, "We have arrived."

Have we academically prepared ourselves for the world of realism which lies ahead of our graduation? Have we left behind us the moral, spiritual, and academic standards to which our underclassmen can set their goals?

We, the class of 1960, render our farewell and gratitude to our faculty and administration for their wholesome instruction and firm professional training. To our underclassmen, we wish success and happiness and all the benefits we have experienced at our Alma Mater.

OUR TRIBUTE TO THOSE WHO SERVED
PRESENTED BY THE SENIOR TRI-HL-Y-1944-45

Jerry, class president, and Marlene, class treasurer, who worked hard to make our senior year successful deserve the title of Mr. and Miss K.A.H.S.

This is really swingin'. Martin and Sue, most musical boy and girl, have a jam session.

Yackety-Yak, Dude and Brenda, our most talkative seniors always have something to chatter about.

Bill and Nancy are accomplished dancers; rock and roll is their specialty.

Superlatives

Who said women are the weaker sex? Suzie, the most athletic girl, certainly fooled Lee, the most outstanding boy athlete.

"This is the hard way, but we'll succeed!" Ada and Tony, most likely to succeed, are busy jacking up a car.

"Catch me, Stewart!" pleads Suzie as our class comedians clown on the goal posts.

Late again?" Mary Ann, most punctual senior asks Wiley, our latest senior.

Merrily and Martin, the most attractive senior girl and boy, pose for the photographer.

How does he do it? Dianne, the shortest senior girl, is given a lift by Terry, the tallest senior boy.

"What's going on here?" Carl and Sonja, most bashful seniors, are wondering. Kathy and Edwin, our most flirtatious seniors, are having a tête-a-tête in the library.

Class Sponsors

Mr. Harold Hehr, Mr. John Davies, Mr. Charles Angstadt and Mrs. Jean Held, our class sponsors, guided us wisely through our senior year. They advised us on our class projects, chaperoned us on our class trip, took us to the court house, and acted as parliamentarians for our class meetings.

ALMA MATER

Kutztown Area High School,
Love you we always shall;
And when our thoughts seem blue,
We'll think of you;
Nor can we e'er forget
All that was done and said
Within your hallowed walls,
Sacred to us.

In turn of life's road
We'll meet with care and strife,
But to thy trust we'll cling
Taught in High School.
Your flag, marine and white,
We'll always keep in sight,
And, thus, from year to year,
We'll remember you.

THE GIDDIO WILL

Things were going on as normal on the tiny island of Aquella off the coast of Florida: Mr. and Mrs. Brown were fighting, Hubert Brown was experimenting with his lion, and Grampa Brown was complaining, when suddenly the castle was invaded by Mrs. Brown's relatives. They were soon followed by Mr. Finkel and a letter containing news of the death of Mrs. Brown's sister. To receive any inheritance several extraordinary conditions had to be met. Then a jazz band arrived and one strange event followed another.

Some of the "strange events" which took place on production nights were unrehearsed. The Moxie in the punch was a shock to the entire (well, almost entire) cast, and in spite of valiant efforts not to laugh, when Nurse Mabel lost her stuffing, even the actors lost their composure.

Mr. Gougler, who wrote and directed the play, deserves our highest praise. Others worked long and hard to add to our success. Mr. Moyer and the KAHS Band furnished the music, Mr. Dreibelbis provided the scenery, Mr. Dietrich took charge of the programs, and Mrs. Lannon directed the sale of tickets. The prompters, make-up assistants, sound assistants, program assistants, stage crew, ticket sellers, and usherettes all were indispensable to our success.

Junior-Senior Farewell

Class president, Jerry Hummel, and date, Dawn Graeff.

The Junior-Senior Farewell was an important social event of our senior year. Next to baccalaureate and commencement, it was perhaps the most anticipated event of the year because it was much like a coming-out party for seniors.

We wish to thank the Juniors for all their preparation in making the Junior-Senior Farewell such a success, especially Sandra Schroeder, dance chairman. The dance was held in the Brookside Country Club near Wescosville on April 29, 1960.

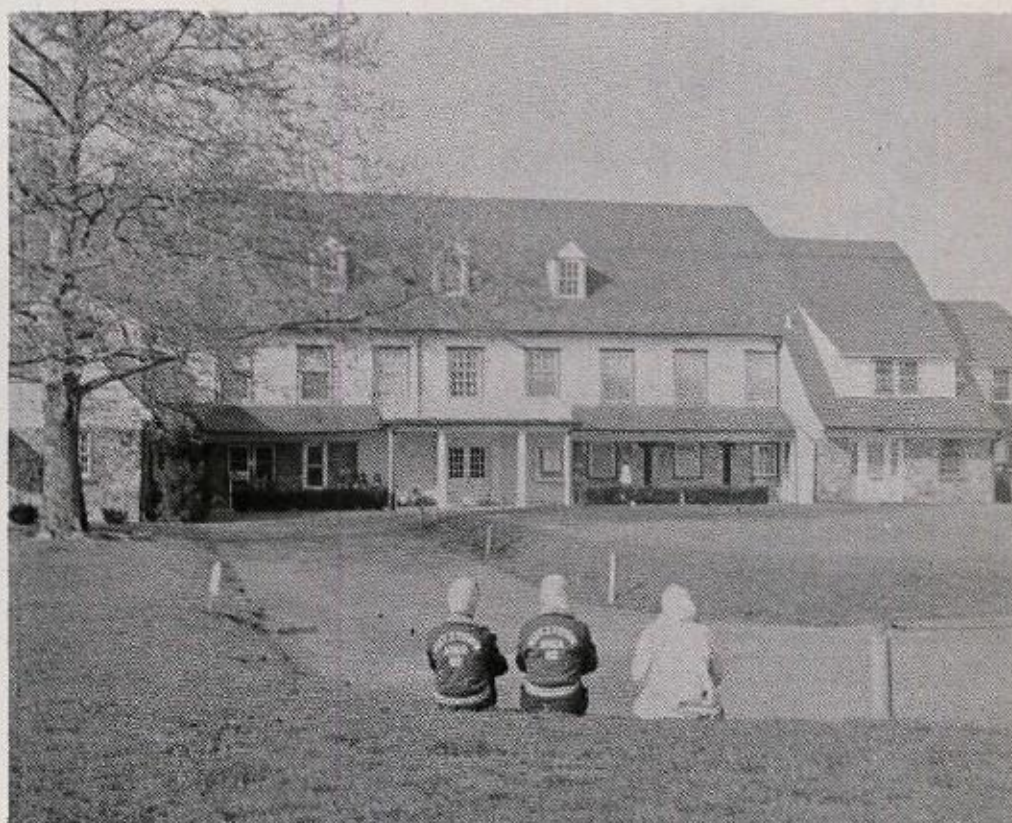

We could have danced all night.

Dance chairlady, Sandra Schroeder and date, Walter Risley.

Soccer

This year our successful soccer team, which finished in second place, was composed of seven Seniors, two Juniors, and two Sophomores. The team coached by Mr. Davies won eight games and lost two.

The Cougar season reached its peak in the thrilling final game when the team came from behind to win the second place title.

Congratulations are extended to this year's team. Good luck to the '61 Cougars.

Varsity Basketball

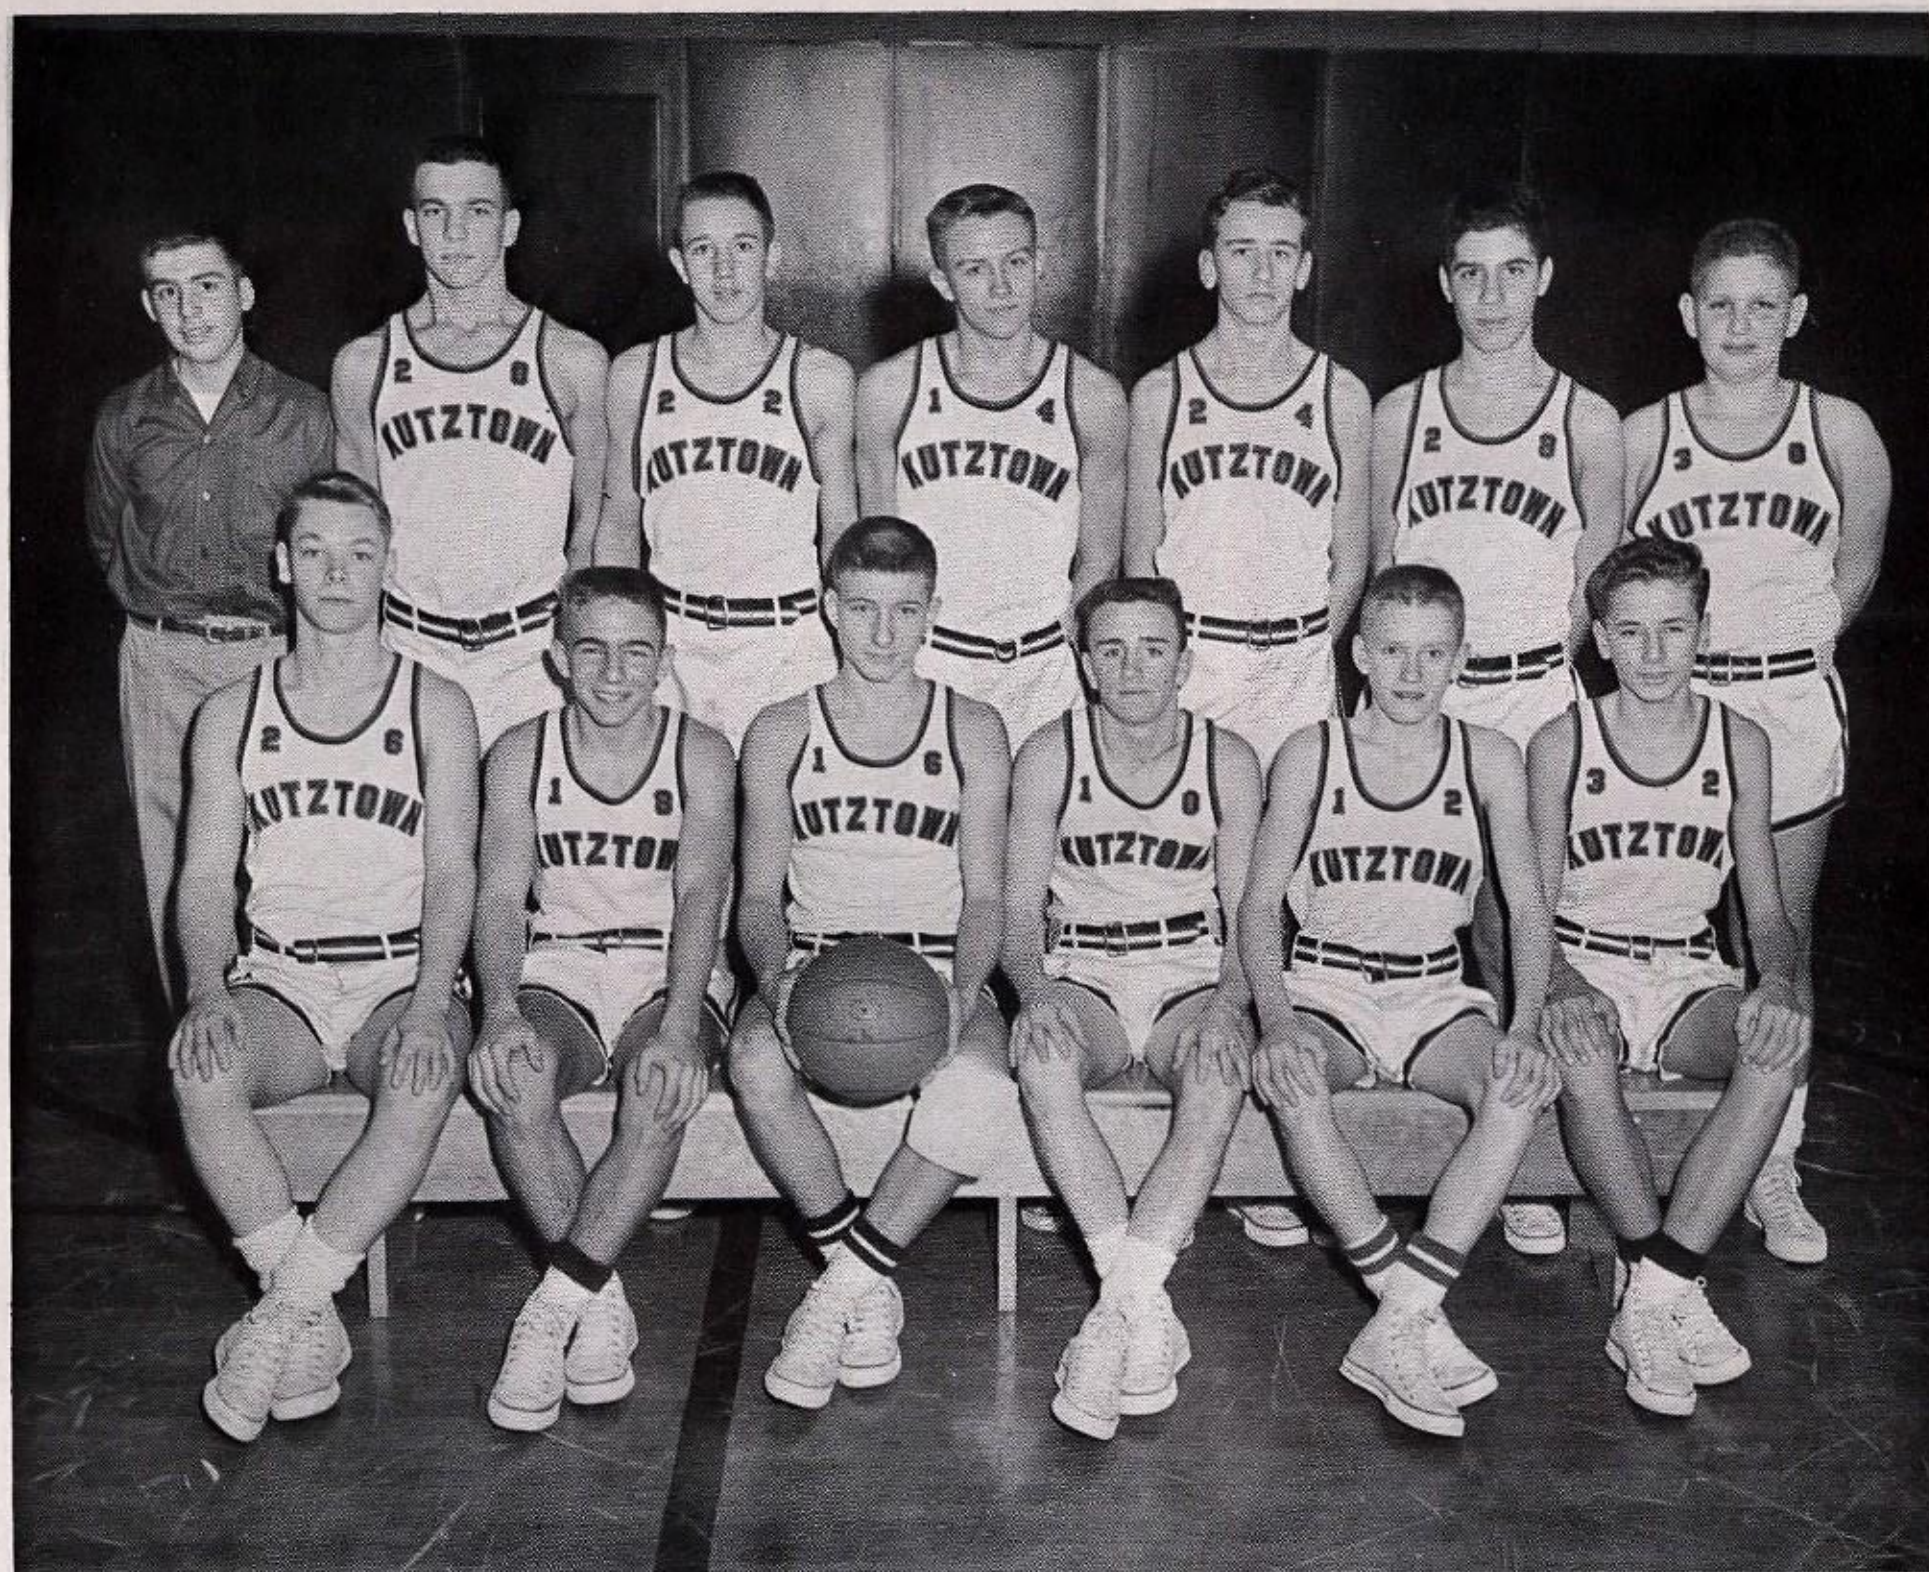

Once again the "Cougars" ended a fine season by posting a 20-4 record. As usual our school and community can be proud of the team Mr. Silan has coached this season. Never will we forget those exciting games at Muhlenberg, Exeter, and Hershey. The starting five were Lee DeTurk, Edwin Kutz, Richard Hauck, Bill Lessig and Jim Snook. Among the top reserves were Donald Zimmerman and Kraig Wagaman. Our Cougars can be proud of posting a clean conference record. The team broke two records this year. The total of 105 points against Daniel Boone set a new record while in the same game Richard Hauck set an individual scoring record of 46 points. The co-captains this year were Lee DeTurk and Richard Hauck. The basketball season came to a halt at Hershey Sports Arena when Eastern Joint defeated the Cougars 64-61 to win the District III Semi-finals.

Establishing terrific attendance records, the Cougars drew hundreds of fans to their games. Congratulations to the team for a job well done and to all those who contributed to the excellent sportsmanship practiced at the games this year.

Best of luck to the '61 Cougars.

Junior Varsity

Basketball

As the regular season ended, the baby Cougars were again in the J. V. County Championship playoffs. This was well deserved, for the baby Cougars completed the season with a 19-1 record. The only loss came at the hands of Allentown High, and that game was a 50-48 thriller. The boys, who displayed exceptional talent, will be excellent material for our future varsity teams. In their final game of the season at Wilson, the Baby Cougars held their own throughout the game and in the waning minutes dropped in needed foul shots to give them a 34-32 victory over Conrad Weiser. To the J. V. team goes outstanding recognition on their performances.

Front Row: Mr. Keim, Adviser; Keith Folk, John P. Adams, Terry Stopp, John Dietrich, Leonard Wartenluft, Joseph Ludwig, Roy Gehris. Back

Bolt and Bore

The Bolt and Bore Club provides a rifle program for boys and girls interested in shooting. The main object of the club is to teach the members how to shoot and handle firearms safely. The training is designed to develop competitive shooting. The members fire 22 caliber rifles at a one inch target fifty feet away in a standing, sitting, kneeling, or prone positions. The boys also shoot to qualify for the National Rifle Association and Civilian Marksmanship Ratings. Each year the four top marksmen represent the high school in local, state, and national championship matches.

Baseball

Practice makes perfect and these boys practice often.

This year our baseball team will be looking forward to a fine season to duplicate last year's County Championship Record. Lee DeTurk, the team Captain, and David Heffner are two seniors who will play key positions. They will be backed by many able underclassmen. The team will play thirteen games this season including ten league games and three exhibition games. We wish our team a successful season.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Our cougar, Cheekua, entered his third year as mascot of the Varsity Cheerleaders with an almost entirely new squad. Only captain Marlene Fisher had had varsity experience, but under her leadership the girls competently cheered the team to victory. Wearing white corduroy jumpers and navy blouses and displaying the pep and enthusiasm necessary for a successful season, the Cougar Cheerleaders boosted the spirits of team members and loyal Kutztown fans.

Each girl on the Junior Varsity Cheerleading team was as new as the white blouse, and blue and white jumper she wore. Led by Dorothy Gruber and supported by their miniature mascot, Akuchee, this squad did an excellent job leading spectators in cheering for the baby cougars. In the following years these girls will replace graduating Varsity Cheerleaders.

The Student Council is one of the most important organizations in our school. Under the instruction of Mrs. Lannon it meets the first Thursday of the month and discusses how to govern and solve problems of the student body. Each year it sponsors weekly record dances, hall patrol, and supervises locker inspections. The council is composed of two members from each homeroom. The president and secretary-treasurer who have high scholastic standings are allowed membership in the student council. These members strive to make our school one of the best in the county.

Tony conducts a meeting of the Student Council.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y aims to present the teachings of Christianity to senior high school boys. The boys participate in various Hi-Y programs such as Hi-Y basketball tournaments and Hi-Y training camps. This program which allows high school boys to take part in religious as well as sports activities is a worthwhile club for all senior high school boys.

"To create, maintain, and extend, throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character," are the words any Tri-Hi-Y Club member would repeat if asked the purpose of her club.

A fall fashion show, sponsored by Furst's Fashion Shoppe, demonstrations, group discussions, and numerous speakers and films were a few programs presented throughout the school year. Each year delegates are sent to rallies, The Older Girls' Conference, Officers' Training Program, and every other year to the model United Nations meeting at Harrisburg.

The high spot on the club's calendar is the annual semi-formal dance. This year it was changed to just a Holiday Dance, and semi-formal attire was unnecessary. The decorations included a large decorated Christmas tree, abstract mobiles, and snow-covered evergreen branches. Another outstanding event is the Mother-Daughter Banquet, where the induction of the new officers takes place.

This year the Tri-Hi-Y also raised funds for World Service, sold school jewelry, such as Cougar charms, pennant pins, and school keys, sold carnations for the playoff basketball game, sponsored record hops, and collected canned goods for a needy family.

Future Business Leaders of America

If you pause by Room 108 at the beginning of the club period, you will hear the F. B. L. A. members of Chapter 654 enthusiastically singing their club song. After devotions, club business takes up some of the time. Then a speaker, movies, demonstration of office machines or an occasional party consumes the remaining time. A half-day field trip to visit an industry or business located in Allentown or Reading is annually anticipated by the members. Places visited have included Call-Chronicle, Allen Laundry, Bell Telephone Company, and Lehigh Valley Cooperative Dairy. The club is especially geared for students primarily interested in pursuing a business career. The members are convinced that the main function of the club has a practical value—to provide them with an insight into the activities of various types of business fields.

The students in the typing room realize typing is a skill they can use in any occupation.

Kutztown Area High School Band

The KAHS Band, directed by William S. Moyer, presents a very dignified appearance for all its many activities. The band, headed by six color guards and eleven majorettes, participated in the Pretzel Bowl half-time activities, local Hallowe'en parades, and the fall and the spring concerts. This year several members were represented in County Band and Orchestra, and two band members participated in both District and State Bands.

Richard Gougler, Faculty Manager of Music, takes care of the uniforms and handles the band's finances.

The Kutztown Area High School Band is preceded by our pert majorettes and six dignified color guards. The attractive majorettes and our pretty banner bearers earn many a favorable comment for their hard work. The banner bearers, majorettes, and the color guards must all be members of the band. These boys and girls are an eye-catching addition to the band.

Chapter was chartered in 1942. Since that time many contests, trips, and activities have been added. Through the years the boys have won many honors at the Kutztown and Reading Fairs as well as the Southwestern Region F.F.A. Dairy Show and the State Junior Dairy Show.

The club's varied activity program includes a basketball tournament with other F.F.A. chapters, Farm Show exhibit, Chicken of Tomorrow Contest, Land, Dairy, and Livestock Judging Contests, Parliamentary Procedure Team, and a senior trip to Black Moshannon State Park. The Father and Son Banquet and Snow Ball Frolic are some of the many memorable events.

The Keystone Farmer Degree, a state award for boys with outstanding project programs, leadership, and co-operation, is available to boys in their senior year. This year James DeLong, Earl Leiby, James Hartranft, Richard Mertz, and Kenneth Rarick received this degree. A Chapter Degree is also presented. The officers for the year are President, Richard Mertz, who is also President of the County F.F.A. Chapter; Vice-president, James DeLong; Secretary, Donald Peters; Corresponding Secretary, Larry Haas; Treasurer, Neal Berger; Chaplain, Earl Leiby; Reporter, Kenneth Rarick; Sentinel, John Mertz. We all can learn from the club motto:

*Learning to Do
Doing to Learn
Learning to Live
Living to Serve*

Future Homemakers of America

Membership in Future Homemakers of America, a local, state, and national organization is open to any girl who has completed one semester of homemaking. To meet club obligations each member must serve on an appointed committee, pay local, state and national dues, participate in money-making projects, and participate in club programs.

Each member may represent her chapter at regional and state meetings. This year ten girls attended the meeting at Hempfield Joint High School in Landisville, Pennsylvania. State meetings, held at Penn State University, are limited to the President, Vice-president and chorus members of the FHA. At the Regional and State meetings K.A.H.S. members conducted the opening ceremony, called the roll, provided entertainment, and presented a skit on manners.

The Red Rose Chapter Award is given to the club with the most outstanding program proficiency in the county. This club is then eligible for an award as the outstanding club in the Region. Our chapter received this honor last fall.

Some of the Service Projects in which the local FHA participated were decorating Easter eggs, buying oysters for an orphanage and sending clothes, books and toys to Crossmore School in North Carolina.

Members of the FHA also work for Degrees of Achievement: the Junior Degree, the first degree which a member can receive; the Chapter Degree, the second degree; the State Degree, the last and highest degree awarded to a future homemaker. The symbol for each degree is a small key, scroll, and a torch. The Junior and Chapter Degrees are awarded at the Mother and Daughter Banquet and the State Degree is awarded at the state meeting at Harrisburg during the Farm Show week.

Some of the club's outstanding events are the Snowball Frolic, the Hallowe'en Party and Fun Night.

The 59-60 officers are: President, Nancy Mengel; Vice-president, Peggy Young; Secretary, Shirley Freeby; Treasurer, Jerilyn Rohrbach; Parliamentarian, Donna Dellicker; Historian, Mildred Loeb; Reporter, Joyce Seidel.
